Don,

Thank you for calling and talking.

You are correct I cannot complain and then not be part of the solution. I will take a position of influence in the Web site planning and the e-Neighbrohood. I will not subject myself to the past exercises in futility. I want a solution that works. As we discussed the Forum is the answer in my opinion, there is the need by the ndiscussion list for a announcement list but it needs to be intirgrated witht the Discussion List.

To help you out of a position that you are now in. I would be happy to attend the board meeting and discuss this with those interested. Kevin should be present to let us know what is possible.

I will be up front with you personally that attempts to marginalize the discussion list, will not be on my agenda, and that the announcement list as well as the discussion list will be used as a part that leads people to visit the forum and the website so that information can be posted and viewed when people have time.

I am happy to move forward with the establishment of a Discussion list Web site as that intrigal part that provides the missing pieces for a complete picture. My vision includes both as partners. It that is not a goal than I will be annoying everyone involved. I prefer to work in the GCNA context. Because it is to my advantage and to the neighborhoods advantage. If the board is not willing to move or arrange the announcement list in any way then it is a waste of time.

Let me know

Wayne

PS I believe I heard Michelle mention that she had signed on for the Home Tour. “we” as it were support the neighborhood and recognize your position. Respect is what we ask, if it is not given we are forced to demand it. That is what becomes unattractive. I can get you intouch with Brian if you want him to work on the budget so that it is not an issue at the general meetings also.

I will include your name as a party interested in the historic overlay unless you tell me contrary. Realitors are helpful because the have the past clients as contacts. I would like to have you involved as it would be a help for your business and perhaps help Jeff support your position as president a little more. We can turn this thing, with communication and honesty.

I hope you can bring nikki back, anything I can do to help that let me know.
